

Experimental design considerations

For all experiments:

1. Use a large enough sample size
2. Subset a specific tissue type when able
3. Sampling points and exposure times should be chosen to appropriately address hypotheses

